EPFL – a World Class Institute of Technology

Founded in 1853, EPFL became a federal institute in 1969 under its current name. EPFL is an internationally recognized higher institution and is ranked Europe’s 2nd university in the field of Engineering, Technology and Computer Sciences in the 2008 Shanghai ranking. Like its sister school ETH Zurich, its mission is to provide high-level education, research and technology transfer on an international level.

EPFL regularly collaborates in real-life cutting-edge projects with external partners. Alinghi, the world’s fastest sailing boat Hydroptère and Solar Impulse demonstrate EPFL’s excellence in bringing together scientists of all disciplines for a successful and highly dynamic collaboration.

It is no surprise that, being highly involved in such record breaking projects, EPFL students demonstrate a spirit of determination in their own initiatives. Among many other activities, they set up the longest-running and most important graduate career fair in Switzerland and organize Europe’s biggest on-campus music festival.
